Re: General Notice of Potential Liability Pursuant to Section 107(a) and Second Request for Information Pursuant to Section 104(e) of CERCLA for the Lower Duwamish Waterway Superfund Site, Seattle, Washington

Dear Ms. Krider and Mr. Schneider:

This letter notifies you of your potential liability at the Lower Duwamish Waterway Superfund site located in King County, Washington ("Superfund Site"). Under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act ("CERCLA"), commonly known as the "Superfund" law, EPA is responsible for responding to the release or threat of release of hazardous substances, pollutants or contaminants. EPA has documented that such a release has occurred at the Superfund Site. Based on information presently available, EPA has determined that you may be responsible under CERCLA for the cleanup of the Superfund Site or costs incurred to clean up the Superfund Site.

This letter also requires you to provide information and documents relating to the property(ies) referenced at the top of the enclosure, and the environmental conditions at, and cleanup of, the Superfund Site..

NOTICE OF POTENTIAL LIABILITY

EPA has documented the release or threatened release of hazardous substances at the Superfund Site. EPA has spent public funds on actions to investigate and control such releases or threatened releases at the Superfund Site.

Under Sections 106(a) and 107(a) of CERCLA, 42 U.S.C. §§ 9606(a) and 9607(a), a Potentially Responsible Party ("PRP") or parties may be required to perform response actions deemed necessary by EPA to protect the public health, welfare, or the environment, and may be responsible for the costs incurred by the government in responding to any release or threatened release at the Superfund Site. Such actions and costs may include, but are not limited to, a preliminary assessment and site investigation in order to gain an understanding of any risks posed by releases or threatened releases for the Superfund Site to human health and the environment, conducting a removal response action at the Superfund Site, expenditures for conducting a Remedial Investigation/Feasibility Study ("RI/FS"), conducting a Remedial Design/Remedial Action ("RD/RA"), and other investigation, planning, response, oversight, and enforcement activities. In addition, PRPs may be required to pay for damages to, destruction of, or loss of natural resources, including the costs of assessing such damages.

EPA has evaluated information in connection with the investigation of the Superfund Site performed to date and believes that you may be a PRP with respect to this Superfund Site. PRPs under CERCLA include current owners or operators of the Superfund Site; former owners or operators of the Superfund Site at the time of disposal of any hazardous substances; persons who arranged for disposal, treatment or transport of hazardous substances at the Superfund Site; or persons who accepted hazardous substances for transport to the Superfund Site. EPA is notifying you that you may be a PRP based on presently available information. Over the next several months, EPA will send similar notices and requests for information to other parties. The order in which these letters are sent merely staggers the flow of information we hope to receive and does not assign any particular significance or priority to the property(ies) or degree of potential liability.

In accordance with CERCLA, EPA has already undertaken certain actions and incurred certain costs in response to conditions at the Superfund Site.

REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Section 104(e) of CERCLA, 42 U.S.C. § 9604(e), requires you to respond to the Information Request set forth in the Enclosure to this letter.

Failure to provide a complete, truthful response to this Information Request within sixty (60) days of your receipt of this letter, or to adequately justify such failure to respond, may subject you to an enforcement action pursuant to Section 104(e) of CERCLA. The statute permits EPA to seek the imposition of penalties of up to thirty-seven thousand five hundred dollars ($37,500) for each day of non-compliance.

In response to the first Information Request sent to Boeing and dated September 2, 2009, Boeing claimed that "...a large amount of this [potentially responsive] information is already in the public domain..." and that Boeing "...understands that EPA does not expect Boeing to reproduce documents that are already in the public domain and equally accessible to EPA." Therefore, Boeing's response to the first Information Request did not include documents in the public domain. EPA never confirmed this understanding and did not intend for this exception to submittal of responsive documents. In response to the enclosed Second Information Request Boeing must submit all documents and provide all information responsive to the Second Information Request whether available in the "public domain" or in any other state of accessibility to EPA or any other entity. If Boeing concludes that this requirement is not possible, Boeing must submit to EPA an itemized list of all documents which Boeing is unable to provide, their location, enough information to locate the documentation, and the physical or digital repository or entity which would otherwise provide the documentation to EPA.

Please note that responses which are incomplete, ambiguous, or evasive may be treated as non-compliance with this Information Request. Provision of false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements or representations may subject you to criminal penalties under 18 U.S.C. § 1001.

Your response to this Information Request should be mailed to:

United States Environmental Protection Agency, Region 10
